Now, without going completely against my earlier commitment to non geek saturation, here's a quick Hardware update ...:0) Dell Optiplex 200 Mhz , NT4 IIS Compaq Presario 113Mhz, Trustix. The Trustix server isn't plugged in yet, and I've had to shut down the mail server on the NT4 Box because of these imbeciles : http://www.daum.net Yes, that's right, I thought I might be able to get more than about 24 hours with an open relay before some bawheid tried to pump a motherload of spam through my lovely new Mercury installation. Needless to say I was wrong. So after replying with gusto to the following address; (don't mail them abuse as it's probably spoofed) smtphunter@daum.net I promptly locked the mail server down, no external relaying...(damn it) Ach, to hell with it, you win some, you lose some. TeH W1n in this case would be the discovery of p2p streamer radio, which has brought daily hilarity into my life via looped broadcasts of The Howard Stern Show. You can get it here : http://www.streamerp2p.com And when that gets too much, or a straight 5 hours has elapsed and you want something a bit more 'tuneful' try this : http://www.somafm.com And with that, I shall leave you.
