The worst is yet to come

TEFLONRABBIT ARTICLE No.338

Unique Identifier:402c1c10-4d6f-443e-aa89-ed2586dca59f

Get procreating before you can't afford it

Friday, December 13, 2024 - 12:05

PDF Version
Rumness
Image not found or type unknown
99
Subscription Only
Off
£
2999

The social credit system being developed by the Chinese government has been many years in the making. What nobody will openly admit, is that the Chinese government are far from the only organisation that is focused on such a totalitarian mechanism. For decades, if not centuries or millennia, there have been dynastic interest groups pursuing a similar goal. Those groups claiming that their provenance extends 7000 years into Egyptian antiquity are on the exact same page as the fifty year planners of Guangzhou.

Mind Control Depopulation Agenda Freemasonry Freedom Train USA Nazis Trans agenda Gender Britain

The murals of Dallas International Airport have often been referenced by critics of the clandestine community. One of such critics would be a one Ms Grace Powers. An entirely delightful lady who not only penned the catchy refrain of 'Kissing with confidence' but has also done a great deal to cock a snoot at the sinister control mechanisms of the contemporary clandestine terrain. To say that these murals contain some dark content is a grotesque understatement. Bearing in mind that Dallas

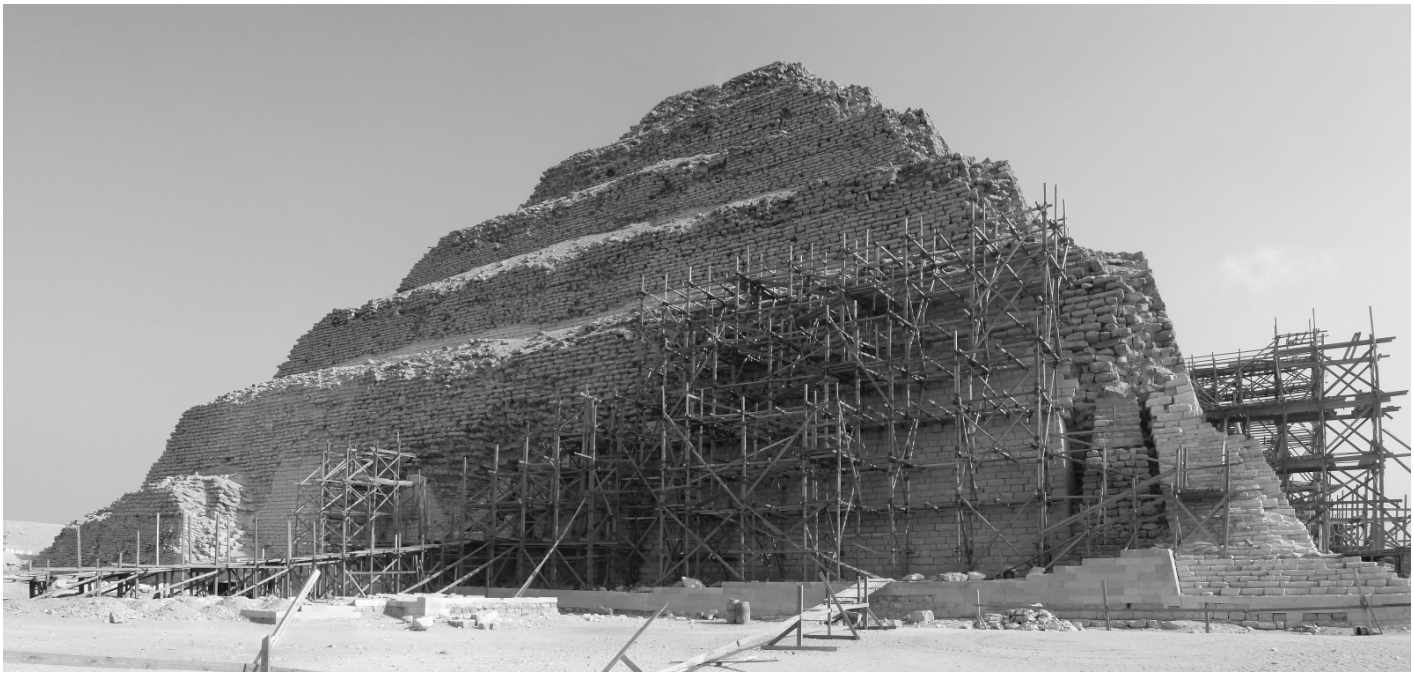

International is in the shape of a giant swastika emblazoned on the Texan landscape. It stands as a clear indicator that the thousand year Reich did not lose the confrontation known broadly as World War Two. As many have opined, the Nazis didn't lose, they just shifted venue.

The mural depicted above displays a rainbow trailed scimitar descending on a forlorn group of women who are all cradling their dead offspring. It does not take a massive leap of imagination to associate what is depicted in this mural to what is currently happening with the so called 'Deep State'. The uncontrolled and frankly mind shattering reality of an entire generation of parents deliberately seeking to coerce their own children into the 'trans-human agenda' portends an impending and heinous reality for the human race.

Furthermore, there is a current frenzy of women in Britain (and undoubtedly across the English speaking world) who work for the civil service who are going out of their way to become pregnant. This has been going on since the beginning of the 'Covid 19' psyop and these women are undoubtedly privy to intelligence which relates directly to the next major global health issue. Put simply, the clandestine community are gearing up to create millions of stillbirths and miscarriages. Their chosen platform will undoubtedly utilise the nascent 5G technology. As has been detailed in previous TEFLONRABBIT.COM articles, 5G is a millimetre wave technology which not only provides a near field networking platform but also facilitates control of human bodily organs. This was (and still is) leveraged against the population for the purposes of inducing uncontrollable coughing fits. The author was subjected to this precise phenomena and had it not been for extensive training in mind over matter, would undoubtedly have been admitted to hospital for the dreaded bronchial affliction popularised by the media during the so called 'pandemic'. To perceive a use of this technology to prematurely terminate unborn children in the womb, is not in any way exaggerated or misplaced.

There are those who would consider such statements to represent unbridled and unjustified fear-mongering. However, if there's one thing that we have learned from analysis of the clandestine community, it's that insanity is no kind of barrier to their malevolent activity. History is replete with credible reports as to the utterly sickening behavior conducted by the five to ten percent of the human race who suffer from a congenital psychopathy. Over the past seven thousand years, this demographic have not spared the horses in regards to forcing their sociopathic methods on the rest of society.

This enforced sociopathy started in the desert of Egypt with the destruction of the cultures which provided the workforce for the repairs and deactivation of the Giza infrastructure. The rag-tag migrant workforce containing remnants of the Hyksos and Dan tribes, learned of the true purpose of the Giza Pyramids. A purpose which can only be described as global psychological surveillance and overt mind control. Their employers in the Pharaonic dynasty could not risk these gig economy workers proliferating this information to the rest of the human population. Instead they were herded into a mind control action which lasted for forty years. The basis was a system which essentially prohibited them from working and provided a free daily bowl of gruel. It inexorably killed off their elders and with them, also their cultural history. The so called 'exodus' was an event which can be interpreted in one of two ways. It was either (a) the unleashing of these heavily mind controlled people on the rest of the planet. Or (b) the fleeing of these people who were lead out of Egypt by the heretic Pharaoh known as Akhenaten or Thutemose the 3rd. In any event, history came to describe these people as 'The Jews' or more accurately, the foundation of the Abrahamic Faith system.

A critical part of the philosophy of this mind control project, was the attempted eradication of human beings enjoying sexual intercourse. Due to the human race possessing long memories and conspicuous genitalia, we have historically placed great value in heterosexual intercourse. Any attempt to control humanity would be well served by focusing on this fundamental characteristic of homo-sapien sapien. The practice of circumcision facilitates premature ejaculation. The practice of having sex from behind using a sheet with a hole in it, to prevent contact through the skin of the sexual partners is a long standing accusation of a custom practiced by the more zealous of Hasidic Jews. While most Rabbinical discussion denies this as being purely a myth or a trope, there is evidence to substantiate the claim. Also it would be naive to consider much of Rabbinical discussion as not representing ardent and sustained attempts at revisionism. In fact, many would point to articles in the Torah which quite specifically denounce and forbid copulation without complete nudity. Regardless, premature ejaculation and rear penetration are not synonymous with heightened arousal for the woman. This plain and quite apparent truth vastly reduces the potential for female orgasm. Climax among women causes the cervix to act as a fuel injector as opposed to a carburetor. The weaker sperm have a greater chance of achieving fertilisation and thereby lead to pregnancies which produce male offspring. Reducing female orgasms increases the numbers of female offspring and with it, makes for a more easily mind controlled population. As anyone who has been exposed to conflict resolution theory will attest, women have a far lesser compensating mechanism and as such are not overly represented in occupations or practices such as firefighting, formula one racing or mountaineering.

Prior to the current social experiment known as 'women in the workplace' (which is only 60 years old), female leadership in society was not really a thing. To this day we see evidence surviving in the fundamental factions of the Abrahamic Faith system. Orthodox Judaism and the more fundamental Islamic cultures prevent women from studying and instead they are encouraged (if not forced) to stay home for the purposes of churning out and looking after children. While these fundamental factions have historically denounced homosexuality, their lapsed counterparts have embraced it as an ideological method of population control.

The rainbow was once an iconic symbol of natural grace and beauty. Since the legalisation of homosexuality in Britain it has clearly become a symbol of ideological wrong think, espoused by many legions of gender dysphoric individuals. The horrific reality is that the vast majority of what is known as the LGBT community did not suddenly or even gradually 'wake up' to their homosexuality. Instead they were targeted for mind control by the intelligence and security agencies. The weapons used included neural linguistic programming, RF based subconscious saturation and the most egregious of MK Ultra based coercion which utilises violent and traumatic abuse. Far from facilitating choice, those wielding such tyrannical methods have denied choice to literally millions of easily coerced people. Since the mass psyop known as 'Covid 19' these groups have stepped up their vile efforts to force as many people as possible into a confused and denial based state of gender dysphoria. It is the latest and most extreme interpretation of what is described in Genesis as 'confounding their languages'.

Ultimately these groups would claim to be representing the interests of their Rosicrucian masters. As has been detailed many times on TEFLONRABBIT.COM, the Georgia Guidestones stood for over two decades and for the most part, the human race didn't even notice. Clearly inscribed in numerous languages across these contemporary megaliths, was a clear commitment to reducing the global population to half a billion. According to the Druidic / Essenic origins of their philosophies, if someone tells you what they're going to do and you do nothing about it, whatever happens next is on you. They are of course, completely wrong in this regard, but it serves their purposes well to espouse such gratuitous wrong think. The reality of what is loosely a karmic concept has been distorted to suit the desires of people who should essentially be incarcerated or euthanased for pursuing such blatantly genocidal mindsets.

Unfortunately part of the self preservation practices of such clandestine malefactors, is the infiltration of control groups throughout all of society. Thus anyone standing against their goals will find themselves targeted by endless governmental departments and their lackeys in the commercial sector. The author has been targeted by these groups for over three decades and throughout the past decade, their efforts have been amplified to the point where a lesser individual would undoubtedly have succumbed to their fascist horseshit or chosen to fall on their own sword. The author chose not to do either and instead decided to, in colloquial terms 'stick it to the man'. Many others have also chosen this route and without exception, they have all ended up being forced out of the workplace and set upon by legions of mind controlled imbeciles. Most of whom claim that their practice of Masonic methods entitles them to make money out of people who disagree with the insanity of their masters.

Basically the writing is on the wall. The whackjobs crashed the global currency market in 2008 / 2010. We are now feeling the effects of democratic capitalism running out of inertia. Consequently, those who have a 'heads up' on what the whackjobs have been planning, are grabbing what they can, while they can. This extends to having their children now, so that they don't end up becoming like the language deprived 'Covid Delayed'. Because they've been earmarked to be the stooges of the forthcoming One World Government.