The legacy of Amun

TEFLONRABBIT ARTICLE No.339

Unique Identifier:bd869404-2851-45d4-87fc-8316bc421c63

Another forty years of porridge

Monday, June 16, 2025 - 18:08

PDF Version
Aroma
Image not found or type unknown
99
Rumness
Image not found or type unknown
99
Subscription Only
Off
£
2999

Less than six thousand years ago, the hidden priesthood of Amun chose several hundred thousand people to become what we have come to know as 'The Jews'. Several thousand years later, they and the Temple of Jupiter steered the Caeserian and Ptolymey dynasties into creating what we have come to know as 'The Christians'. Today their latter day buttmonkey lackeys are at it again.

Corruption Egypt Freemasonry Secret Societies Social Engineering

It has become accepted by most critical researchers that the Giza complex is much, much older than the mainstream narrative asserts. None of the carbon dating of mortar or other organic compounds can be considered veracious because the institutions which verify them are hopelessly corrupted by a cult of secrecy. This cult has been operating behind the scenes in one form or another for many, many millennia. Most relevant is the period when they were known as the Priesthood of Amun. This intersected with the Hyksos Kings and their infiltration of Egyptian dynastic society. Ultimately the mainstream narrative of Dynastic Egypt represents a colossal con which has prevented the homo sapien species from achieving its' potential.

The con that the Great pyramid was built as a tomb for the Pharaoh Kufu / Khafre, has been periodically reinforced. Most of the New Kingdom dynasties derived their authority from this rather inelegant and fragile lie. Consequently they had to be seen to conduct periodic maintenance programs to maintain the deception. As has been extensively detailed in previous TEFLONRABBIT articles, GIza was a multi function installation created by forces unknown. Possibly the most critical function was to provide a series of carrier frequencies that facilitated totalitarian mind control of the entirety of Mediterranean society.

To muddy the waters even further, there was a schism between the large brained people who we could effectively assume to be the Old Kingdom architects. Many have come to label these large brained hominins as 'Homo Capensis'. The schism resulted in a substantial number of these 'people' migrating to South America. It seems that their evolution continued there and produced another race of large brained hominins whom have recently been dubbed 'Homo Paracas'. They would be the ones responsible for the inexplicable architecture found in Bolivia and Peru.

At some point, a substantial number of these migrants returned to Egypt. It may well be that the disaster which razed the infrastructure of Tannis left Egypt in a completely depopulated state. As such the breakaway civilisation which had migrated to the South Americas returned to fill a void in the power base of the Nile Valley. Due to the complete absence of written records it is impossible to fix a chronological meter to these events. Most likely it all occurred before the New Kingdom Dynasties even came to exist. Long before the Kings list was defined and undoubtedly a very long time before Akhanaten the Heretic Pharaoh lead the 'Jews' out of Egypt.

These returning long skulls, effectively 'bricked up' the pyramids of the Giza plateau. However, being a bunch of vain and cruel elitists, they created a gig economy for the labours involved. The remnants of the so called 'lost tribes' were employed to literally cover up the Giza infrastructure. This is clearly evidenced by the obstructions to the original entrance of the Great Pyramid. It seems that this was necessary due to what was considered some highly irresponsible use of the complex to basically enlighten as many people as possible.

The enlightenment involved multiple methods including the three day resurrection ritual and also the consumption of water which had been 'restructured' with DNA information from stars other than our local sun. They were literally using other evolutionary schematics which were designed for lifeforms quite radically different from homo sapiens. Furthermore, the information applied to the molecules of water rising up from below the complex, left these other stars hundreds of thousands (if not millions) of years prior.

For whatever reason those who filled the power gap, considered this mass enlightenment to be a heresy. As such it needed to be stopped and prevented from ever happening again. This required concealing the evidence and killing off everyone who knew what had been going on. Unfortunately for them, concealing the evidence required the use of a great many labourers to move a vast tonnage of dense silicate. However therein lies a problem. The round headed homo sapiens were never to know of the purpose of the Giza complex. Mind controlling humans only really works if they are completely oblivious to it.

Thus, the mind control campaign in the deserts of Egypt endured for forty years. The remnants of the Dan, the Hyksos and some other descendants of the Sea Peoples were effectively incarcerated in desert camps with no means of survival. They were given a single bowl of gruel per day by the Priesthood of Amun and the requirement to haul major amounts of dense silicate was removed. This campaign killed off their elders and with them, their memories of their original culture(s). The ritual mutilation of infant males was programmed into them and along with it, a method of fracturing male personalities for the purposes of ongoing mind control. Pretty much the exact inverse of the previous paradigm which sought to turn men into 'gods'.

The reforming of cultures has happened numerous times throughout history and it is accepted that it only takes a single generation for a culture wide language to be completely eradicated. The labourers who had worked on the pyramid 'restoration' programs, had come to understand what the Giza complex was actually intended for. The Priesthood of Amun could not allow this information to become widely understood and commenced with their brain washing campaign.

As usual, there was a requirement to 'get the best value' from this action. While they were reforming the minds of the labourers and their children, they worked in some of their monotheistic ideals. This was undoubtedly to effect a greater degree of control. If everyone is on the same page in terms of their deity worship, faking interaction with those deities is much easier. If they are all following the gods of various Pagan cults with elaborate pantheons, fooling them into believing that they were in communication with their gods would be inconveniently complicated.

According to Doctor Ed Spencer:

> At some point the Jews came into contact with these large brained hominids.

Dr. Ed is being deliberately circumspect in this statement and what he doesn't want to say is that actually the Jews were created through a process of quite vicious mind control. He does however openly state that the purpose was to subvert the rest of humanity on an ongoing basis. Considering what we have captured in written history over the past four thousand years, it's difficult to argue with this really very simple statement.

Over the past decade, the intelligence agencies have been attempting to turn the clock back on the human race embracing digital communication. We are more informed now than we have ever been before. Thanks to the release of the TCP/IP protocol, many of the deceptions of the past have been thrown directly under a bus. This does not suit the global elitists who clearly wish to preserve their entitlement to practice and profit from blatant usury. To this end they embarked on a plan which resembles in many ways, the exact same method that was employed by the Priesthood of Amun.

The Covid19 psy-op isolated everybody in their homes, killed off the elders in care homes and crippled the minds of an entire generation of children. Furthermore, the clandestine community are planning on doing this again and again over the next thirty years. Thereby fulfilling the requirement to prevent humanity from understanding too much about the nature of their reality. This has become necessary due to the information revolution, but also due to the relentless drive to create an industry from the insanity of the clandestine community. Freemasonry is essentially a completely insane cult of delusion. They learned this from the Knights Templar, who acquired the knowledge from various cults during their glory days of the 1100's. All of the necrotic mind control methods have trickled down from the Priesthood of Amun and all of them serve the purposes of the original goals of the large brained hominins.

To quote Robert O. Dean, notorious retired Command Sergeant Major and uncompromising whistle-blower :

> What you've got to remember is that there are these BOZO's out there running around believing that they are descended from the builder gods of old ...

Let's not beat around the bush, who Robert O. Dean is directly referencing here are the secret societies who derive their authority from the Priesthood of Amun. This includes the Knights Templar (who certainly did not disappear), their deranged flunkies in the various Freemasonic orders, the Knights Malta, the Knights Hospitaler, the Bilderberger group, the Order of the Garter, Snake and Dragon, The Rosicrucians, the Skull and Bones, the comittee of 300, the family of 13, the Daughters of the NIle, The Eastern Cross and ,,,

The list of these secret societies is literally endless. As are the numerous factions of the civil service which facilitate their psychotic and predatory abuse of the general public. Specifically the groups invoked through the concept of militarised 'police'. Numerous articles on TEFLONRABBIT refer to the contemporary clandestine terrain in the UK. The concept of the RIPA agencies can essentially be considered as an extension to the existing and ancient factions of secret militarised 'police' bodies which have been ruthlessly exploiting the rest of the human race for millennia. This has facilitated the dissemination of technological methods from groups who have enjoyed advantage throughout history due to their hidden technology.

The technology that was used to spin the medical facet of the Covid19 psy-op was disseminated from the military to the rest of the civil service departments. The military have been using RF and wave technology to mind control the population for literally thousands of years. Prior to 1947, this was mostly limited to the groups who were controlled by the remnants of the SPQR, namely - the Vatican. Just as with the granting of unlimited power to the Knights Templar by the Vatican following their discovery in Jerusalem, the US government was given access to a technological 'upgrade' which came to define the military industrial complex and subsequent Cold War.

When the first rumours of the Covid19 psy-op began to circulate, there were a few outrageous claims that it was linked to the 5G roll-out. Most scoffed at these assertions, however this was quite blind and ultimately highly erroneous. The military handbook on resonant frequencies of the human body - The Dosymetry Handbook (currently at version five) clearly details how every single organ in the human body can be targeted using specific radio frequencies. Some of this knowledge has been in the popular consciousness for decades. Specifically among musicians, there is an understanding that certain notes or frequencies will cause an involuntary physical reaction. Numerous musical influencers from classical composers to contemporary acts such as Hawkwind and The Orb, have blatantly experimented on their audiences with audio frequencies that humans are not normally exposed to.

The human brain is among these resonant sensitive organs and has a specifically complex relationship with RF and wave technology. The works of Preston Nichols in this field have since been followed up by numerous other researchers. All of whom spell out the various methods being employed by these utterly deranged secret societies to deliberately and directly shape the thoughts of the rest of humanity in particularly unsubtle ways.

When the targeted individual feels a tickling in their upper bronchial pathways, they automatically cough to clear any impediment to their intake of air. However, this irritation is nothing to do with catarrh or mucus. It is in fact as a result of being targeted with specific frequencies which target the lungs and rest of the bronchial system. If they are unaware of what is going on, they will generally find themselves lapsing into an uncontrollable coughing fit. Alarming to say the least, this hitherto unknown malaise generally precedes a visit to hospital to seek treatment for what they believe to be some form of 'novel corona virus'. Cue blatantly hazardous treatment by said hospitals to essentially create revenue from these unwitting victims of highly malevolent electronic warfare. It was revealed that hospitals were receiving thousands of pounds for anyone diagnosed with Covid19 and even more for anyone who died in their care of what was diagnosed as Covid19.

It would be naive in the extreme to assume that the Hippocratic oath means anything whatsoever any more. There are increasing numbers of healthcare professionals who openly advocate the disregarding of the oath because it prevents them from acquiring the profits they believe they are entitled to. Healthcare has become a vertical market and as such is subject to the principles of savage capitalism. Browse any social media platform and it is impossible to ignore the vast number of people reporting on the untimely deaths of their relatives. Most have come about as a result of some mysterious and unforeseeable condition and their surviving relatives are left feeling utterly failed by the medical institutions involved. This is a problem which is only getting worse. To ignore the link with the profoundly unethical vaccination frenzy rolled out as the so called 'moon shot' research solution to an alleged global pandemic, would be to engage in cognitive dissonance of the most crass nature.

As has been mentioned previously on TEFLONRABBIT, where the interests of fundamental extremists converge, there lies true danger for the human race. The greed of the average clandestine operative combined with the insanity of the Rosicrucian Depopulation agenda has created a situation which is accurately described by the simple statement above. The Rosicrucians represent a significant percentage of the clandestine power base. They advertised their desire to reduce the human population to half a billion with giant stone tablets which stood for over two decades. Most people didn't even notice and those who have been put under the cosh by the aforementioned secret societies erroneously believe that they will be one of the half a billion left over. This plays into the toxic narcissism of these cults whereby these avaricious cowards actually believe that they have something special which will spare them the fate of their peers. A reduction from eight billion to half a billion means that to 'go through' the average clandestine operative needs to prove that they are special among sixteen of their peers. The statistics say that fifteen out of sixteen people need to be gone in order for the world to be managed in a sustainable manner.

Suffice to say the Depopulation Agenda is fuelled by grotesquely skewed science. This is the nature of 'nudge theory' and was ruthlessly implemented during the so called 'pandemic'. Arch scientism shill Neil Degras Tyson openly stated on a chatshow when he was asked what Covid was all about:

> I think it's a global experiment to see if people still listen to scientists.

This may have been the most incisive thing that Mr. Tyson has ever said in his life. As usual it barely scratches the surface of what's going on, but at least he wasn't simply parroting the mainstream and media endorsed narrative. In many ways he was absolutely correct. The logic of what was being put out to the general public was so horribly unintuitive that the only people who would believe it were either extremely stupid or actively engaging in massive cognitive dissonance. Just like the remnants of the Dan and the Hyksos were when they were told that mutilating their children and believing a whole load of utter horseshit about an imaginary deity would preserve their status as 'Gods chosen people'.

In 1997, President Bill Clinton received a document detailing a forthcoming 'pandemic' which would take the shape of a particularly virulent influenza crisis. Predictions of ten percent mortality featured throughout and was backed up by numerous 'experts' from the Centre for Disease Control. Less than five years later, the SARS-COV crisis ripped through China and the rest of the Eastern Pacific rim countries. By all accounts the mortality rate was indeed high. Furthermore the masking culture that ensued created the first generation that could be demonstrably described as having suffered from a language deprivation campaign. This created data that was undeniably used to convince parents across the rest of the world to wear masks while they were providing care to their recently born children.

The primary defence of this frankly Satanic process comes from the avaricious cowards in the clandestine community in the shape of :

Well it's better than what was done to us

This horrific equivocation is based on the trauma methods employed through the use of the MK-Ultra and Project Monarch programs. They featured the most egregious of abuse methods used against children for decades to provide a ready made mind control paradigm and also to facilitate the philosophical goals of the 1666 redemption cult. A particularly Satanic sector of the clandestine community which has infiltrated many of the other facets of the intelligence and security agencies. Their belief system essentially asserts that in order to flush out the messiah, the human race must sin as much as possible. It's difficult to articulate quite how fucking insane these people are. The best thing that could be done would be to identify and ~~execute~~ incarcerate them at the earliest possible opportunity.

It seems that in Britain there is a glimmer of hope in this regard. The government have allegedly embarked on a major upturn in the building of prisons. Whether these thousands of new prison places are intended for the most egregious of the sickening masonic cult of psychopathy or for the dissenters, is impossible to know at this point. Britain has more Freemasons than any other country on the planet. Consequently it's generally at the core of the most disgusting acts committed by the global cult. This has allowed the British Empire to endure despite appearing to have relinquished their previous control of a quarter of the planet. But it also makes Britain the most corrupt country on Earth. This is some achievement given the out of control criminal activity that goes on in other countries politics.

Make no mistake, the malevolent and avaricious cowards of the clandestine community are quaking in their boots. They know perfectly well that the human race is gearing up to shake off the irrational shackles of the past seven millennia. We are no longer experiencing the dawn of the age of Aquarius. Moreover we have our sights set on the mid morning coffee break and are no longer content to be controlled by illogical narrative enforcement. The gargantuan lies of the past are up for grabs and we're moving inexorably toward being controlled purely by reason, logic and rationale. Consequently we're seeing the flunkies and lackeys of the Priesthood of Amun trying their hardest to push back against the progress of the human race.

This simultaneously spells hope and potential disaster for the rest of humanity. The fake Jew, mind controlled, homosexuals of the clandestine community are so fucking insane that they will undoubtedly sacrifice everything to deny their enemies. This includes such insanity as the Samson option, a protocol which asserts that if Israel is significantly threatened, it will launch all its nuclear weapons at various targets throughout the middle east and Europe. This will exhaust their nuclear deterrent and as such leave them utterly helpless. Consequently it is considered as the ultimate sacrifice strategy.

The Likud party controlled state of Israel is currently playing out a script which appears to adhere to the series of events which have been collectively labelled as "The Return of The King". This is a profoundly necrotic gameplan which relies on the credentials of the clearly assassinated Diana, Princess of Wales, ex wife of our current head of the church and military King Charles ARTHUR Windsor. Her son, the forthcoming King William ARTHUR Windsor will apparently step forward when Israels enemies galvanise and move to eradicate the false state once and for all. He will do this under a banner of altruism and peace brokering, but will obviously be pursuing a hidden agenda of total power. This then paves the way for his own son, the future King George ARTHUR Windsor, to assume the throne as the one true King of the British Isles and by extension, the rest of the English speaking world which now envelopes the entire planet.

Ultimately the WHO, WEF and global intelligence industry are hell bent on creating a single globalist government. However, they derive much of their authority from a historical basis. This means that they will have had issues garnering support for a global republic. The Merovingian dynasties are enmeshed with the secret societies at a fundamental level. Consequently the forthcoming one world government will logically require a one world monarch. Who could be more qualified than the head of the former British Empire? A monarch which the Commonwealth nations (ergo the majority of the English speaking world) still recognise as their head of state.

The fact that the King Arthur is being touted as the regal figurehead of a one world government, is the third King Arthur is exceedingly relevant. The original King Arthur is well enough described by various anecdotal accounts from Geoffrey of Monmouth and somewhat less fictional authors. The heir of Camelot or Tintagel, King Arthur II, is less well known. According to extensive research by Wilson and Blackett, Arthur II was an instrumental figure in the widespread adoption of monotheistic belief systems in Britain. They go as far as to say that he may have been the main driving force behind the Christianisation of much of Europe and potentially the New World. Something which may well speak to his rather violent demise in the New World.

While it's difficult to believe that anyone would care much about such historical ambiguity, there are factions within the secret societies who consider their own delusional belief systems to represent the word of God. This is as a direct result of the works of the priesthood of Amun. Possibly the most critical facet of the confounding of languages referenced in Genesis, is the falsehood of what 'God' actually means. The work of the monotheistic movement in Khemet or ancient Egypt, was focused on the Sun God Ra. Sun gazing enlightened vast tracts of the population and was undoubtedly instrumental in the campaign to evolve the entire human race.

However this mass enlightenment was not compatible with the desires of the Hyksos infiltrators. Neither was it favoured by the Talmudic Babylonian fake Jews conjured up by the pharisees seventy years after the works of the man known as Theos Philopater Philometor Julius Ptolymeus VII Caesarian, AKA Jesus Christ. Basically the many facets of the Priesthood of Amun, just didn't like it. Its' not difficult to see why an enlightened population stands as a major threat to a group who believe that perception management equates to divinity.

Consequently, some long skulled miscreant scumbags decided that they would mind control homosapien sapiens into believing that they were the creator. This is evinced in various texts in Old Testament scripture but perhaps most obviously by the various prophets who believed they were communicating directly with the creator. They certainly were not and in fact, they were being conned by some dome headed miscreant with access to RF based mind control technology.

This massive con was further compounded by the fact that there is an ancient system of surveillance and mind control which does indeed feature the use of our local star. This system is what the sun gazers of Khemet used to essentially evolve into higher forms of intelligent life. It's a system which can not be controlled by any secret society, government or military. It is the defacto birthright of every single electromagnetic entity on planet Earth (and all life bearing planets) and is the greatest threat to the aforementioned psychopathic self interest groups. It is an inherent platform for both psy related 'magic' and also an alchemical method which our current paradigm has not exploited.

The operators of the Giza plateau were some seriously clever people. Without getting into an extremely complicated chemistry debate, they were basically using the frequencies of stars other than our own in order to evolve beyond the limitations of our solar system. There seems to be a correlation between the age of the local star and the evolutionary status of any hominids influenced by its energy. As such, isolating the frequencies of distant star systems (many of which have already died out) facilitated a further level of evolution.

In addition to human evolution, it seems that part of this method was blatantly related to the science of chemistry. The structuring of the water pumped up from the aquifer below Giza was (and still is) apparently 'perfect'. This would be due to the fact that there is water locked away in the mantle which has not been exposed to energy from a star for hundreds of thousands, if not millions of years. While not exposed to frequencies from any star, it has been extensively exposed to the Schumann frequency. This would represent the most balanced and compatible water that exists. Generally speaking it can be accessed as fresh water bubbling out of artesian wells. However the water in the aquifer below Giza is considered to be brackish. This means that it's useless for drinking as it would lead to greater dehydration than hydration. Whether this aquifer has always been brackish is difficult to know.

However, this water was definitely being used for something. The precision of the dense silicate amphora used to store this water illustrates the relationship between the vessel and the structure of the water. Whatever the purpose, preserving the structure was incredibly important. The exposure to off world frequencies was clearly of massive significance.

Water was not the only compound that the alchemists of Khemet were working with. Their remit also extended to Ammonia (Amun), Nitric acid and undoubtedly a range of other highly relevant liquids. One of the most significant would undoubtedly be Mercury. From the pyramids of China to those of Peru and Mesoamerica, the existance of Mercury in relation to pyramids is undeniable. What they were using it for is still somewhat of a mystery. The most likely explanation would involve the toroid mechanics of engines that were used to power aerial vehicles. This is described in the Indian text of the Viminaka Shastra as powering numerous craft that seemed capable of long distance aviation.

As can be seen in the scale of the Horus figures compared to the Pharaohs, whatever Horus was, it gained power throughout the history of Khemet / Egypt. It doesn't require much of a leap of deduction to draw a line between the eyes of the hawk and the surveillance advantage of an aerial presence. How exactly the Mercury fuel was being structured remains an even greater mystery. One thing we can be sure of, is that it's completely forbidden to investigate it.

However while the deranged, bastard offspring of the Priesthood of Amun are using global bacteriological warfare, overt mind control and the threat of nuclear Armageddon to control populations, they don't get to tell TEFLONRABBIT what is and what isn't forbidden knowledge.

Their paradigm of power through knowledge disparity is practically finished, the time has come to tell these delusional imbeciles to step off because we're done with their stupid deceptions. Obviously they don't like it and will do whatever is required to preserve their privilege and advantage. Unfortunately for them it's a case of tough luck, it's happening anyway. Do they want to have a place in the new paradigm, or not.