As has been mentioned in previous articles, the concept of privacy is and always has been an illusion. The concept of the skull being some form of sacred space is simply a fiction. In this months installment, we consider how to push back against those who would deny humanity their right to self determination.

Crime Social Engineering Corruption Freemasonry Government Police Military Industrial Complex Intelligence Security

Do a quick search on any social media platform using the term "gangstalking"and the reader will find a landslide of innocent people being relentlessly hounded by broken eyed miscreants. This has got much worse since the psyop known as the 'pandemic'. To be utterly frank about it, this is a direct result of the WEF and the WHO greenlighting the mass persecution of the human race.

The entire sickening debacle can be summed up in a very succinct way. Because human beings are electromagnetic entities, their thoughts can be detected using electronic means. Many people do not accept that homosapien-sapiens have a unique electronic signature that can be detected as easily as a lightbulb in the middle of the room. We are conditioned to believe that humans are wonderfully complex organisms with autonomy, free will and self determination. This is in essence the illusion that prevents the masses from storming city hall, dragging our supposedly 'elected' representatives into the street and placing burning car tires around their necks.

The technology that facilitates the blatant denial of psychological integrity has been described many times on TEFLONRABBIT. The people across social media who have found themselves subject to the insanity of these gangstalkers have created their own communities and rely on soundbytes such as V2K to describe the literal hearing of voices in their head. Naturally anyone with any common sense will not talk about voices in their head because it is easy to write off what they say as paranoid delusion. This is no coincidence. The cult that has monetised the mind rape of the entire human race does not want to be held accountable for it. Especially when the vast majority of government employees all over the world are engaged in it. Furthermore, to assert dominance over these people, committing them to a mental institution, serves these mind controlled gangstalkers incredibly well.

How far back this goes really depends on how much of the historical narrative one is prepared to disregard. The more layers that are removed, the more heinous the situation is revealed to be. The author does not make the following comment lightly and would not publish it unless they were absolutely certain that it represents a veracious reality:

> The entirety of the Abrahamic faith system is based on a gargantuan con.

Those throughout history who have communicated with what they believe to be gods, have been utterly hoodwinked. These entities were no more gods than our old example 'Operative Bryce' is. The technology used by contemporary agencies is a cheap facsimile of the technology used in centuries and millennia past. The US government were subject to a technology dissemination in 1947 which gave RF oversight to the military and the lower ranks of municipal 'intelligence' agencies. While this is sickening enough, it gets even worse. The technology (as mentioned) has existed for thousands of years. However it has been heavily obfuscated to the end user. As with most horrific realities in the human experience, it is perpetuated by the concept of gain.

The founding fathers of the USA were essentially the descendants of a caste of upper middle class and aristocrats from Europe. Specifically a bunch of deranged Freemasons from Britain. Freemasons could be likened to the bastard progeny of the corrupted Judaism of Babylon, the Knights Templar & the Vatican. The methods that they have used to psychologically oppress the populations of every country on Earth are not the same as the technology that can be openly purchased today to facilitate listening in on people's thoughts. There is a tiered series of technologies that are used against human beings all over the world, on an hourly basis.

The old system, which has been around for longer than can be understood. Uses a technology which is not controlled by the Knights Templar, the Vatican or their hybridised bastard offspring. Instead it uses a system which has been in place since the big bang. Again, this represents some seriously challenging information but as repeatedly confirmed, TEFLONRABBIT does not go to press unless he knows what the hell he's talking about.

Our local star is understood to be a gigantic atomic reaction which bathes the Earth in light and heat. However this is far from the entire picture. It also operates as a massive repository of information. It is what has been described as 'The Akashic record', the 'Aether' or in most cases ... 'god'.It contains and communicates the very blueprints of life itself as experienced on this planet and others in our solar system (in times past). Learning how to access this vast database is akin to becoming a grand wizard or a master yogi. The aforementioned bastards spend over three decades wading through a load of abstract and sociopathic horseshit to get to a point where they can use this database to gain advantage over other people who are unaware of it.

To further muddy the waters of comprehension, these cult secret societies employ incredibly disjointed methods to communicate this rather inelegant truth to their acolytes. The process has been monetised since the collapse of Old Kingdom Egypt or 'Chem' or 'Khemet'. The resistance seen all across social media to the idea of a previous epoch of civilisation is essentially the bread and butter of not only the Knights Templar and Freemasons, but also numerous other groups who have been inducted into this cult mentality. Many of them will never come to understand the simple (if somewhat challenging) concept described above. Instead they will live out their entire lives believing a distinct and tailored concoction of half truths and esoteric mumbo jumbo. Even the so called 'waking up' of the population must at all times (according to their doctrine) be subverted with confidence trickery.

The reasoning (if such a term can be used to describe anything to do with these fucking idiots) is based on the alteration of conventional value systems. As a globalist quasi-democratic capitalist society, humanity has ever placed value in materialism. Many faiths go to some lengths to divert this mindset and replace it with altruism and the value that compassion and empathy bring to the human condition. However due to our enduring fixation with catastrophism, humans have a somewhat sinister side to their character which is predicated on asserting dominance. It is seen in every walk of life, from the playground of kindergartens to the C-Suite shenanigans of corporate interaction.

The cult mindset adhered to by gangstalkers has been manufactured to replace material value with dominance value. Ironically their greatest tool in this regard is the material rewarding of anti-social and oppressive behaviour. Through a vile combination of Stockholm syndrome and the right of conquest, humans have been reprogrammed to become what would broadly be termed 'Manchurian candidates'. In other words, people who will do whatever they are told, whenever they are told to do it, whatever the cost and whatever the risk. This suits the militarised factions of Freemasonry and the Knights Templar very well indeed. Due to their obsession with the con, they compel their acolytes into behaving in ways that nobody could ever term even remotely humane.

From time to time, the case of the missing child Madelaine McCann is shunted around the media. This has taken the place of such cases as Myra Hindley and Jimmy Saville. The utterly sickening narrative was relentlessly promoted by British public relations company Bell Pottinger and more recently, their competitors Hanover. According to a statement made by a Bell Pottinger whistleblower, the McCanns would be headline news in every English speaking newspaper because Kate and Gerry McCann paid them a quarter of a million pounds to do so.

While it would be easy to assume that this transaction was based on the distraught actions of desperate parents, the reality is that the McCanns have not behaved in accordance with this stereotype. Throughout the many years of this narrative doing the rounds, their cold and sociopathic actions have raised numerous flags. From the highly discomforting video clip of Gerry McCann's instructions to stop filming because he was "here for work, not fun" during their shuttle bus ride after disembarking from their flight, to the numerous flaws in the investigative procedure and the involvement of such conspicuous individuals as 'fixer' Robert Murat.

The utterly horrific and most plausible narrative is that the McCanns were both intelligence operatives who were using their own child as bait for their targets. This is far from an isolated incident and has actually become the norm for many British parents. The fallout from this paradigm of sickening psychopathy is now being seen in the desperate attempts to push all the children that were used as props (or worse) into gender transitioning.

It would be logical to ask what this has to do with gangstalking. The answer is the same as it would be for most of the articles on TEFLONRABBIT: if you are reading this content, whoever is listening in on your thoughts is placed in an impossible situation. Due to the sensitivity of such material, they can not be seen to be involved with it. This is the same with such articles as those dealing with the infamous John Lenard Walson. Basically this shit is way above their pay grade and they can't have their owners knowing that they are listening to such hazardous material. This is why TEFLONRABBIT has been recommending that the community known as 'Targeted Individuals' read up on these subjects and start thinking about them every time they feel themselves being targeted. It's simply a case of contaminating their intelligence feed to deter them from trying it again.

Due to the profound incompetence and also overly bold and audacious behaviour of the intelligence community, there are many of these toxic subjects in circulation. Ultimately it comes down to who do you want listening in on your thoughts. The natural reaction would be to say 'absolutely nobody'. Unfortunately that ship has sailed and sailed some time before any of us came into existence. If you engage with your gangstalkers and learn their methods (which is what they want) you will be ever used by the lower end of these factions. If you up your game and develop a comprehensive portfolio of intelligence based on classified material, the powers that should certainly never have been, have little choice but to bump you over to the higher echelons of the military intelligence agencies.

Now it should be said that this method is not without its' risks. Ultimately these agencies might decide to cut their losses and simply exterminate anyone threatening their industry. The philosophy adhered to by TEFLONRABBIT goes along the lines of; if you don't even have the sanctity of your own mind, then what's the point of surviving another day only to have some insidious scumbag doing the same thing tomorrow. Also, these deranged asshats have no choice but to adhere to certain principles. One of their greatest vulnerabilities is the boldness and audacity mentioned earlier. They really do believe that if you can do a thing, then you have proven that you can do it and are therefore entitled to do it. This is how they justify their bizarre and utterly perverse activities. Most of which revolve around the concept of blackmail.

The one thing they can not tolerate is the dissemination of their secret, non technological method. In other words - 'the craft'. Most Freemasons live in perpetual fear of 'the penalty' which will generally be the deliberate leaking of blackmail collateral. However they do have other penalties which adhere to some bizarre and sociopathic principles. Many of them include physical harm. This can extend to poisoning, freak accidents and even the ritual based freak-show activities mentioned in many exposes of their cult. Such barbaric activities as having the heart cut out and thrown into a field (?) or the death of a loved one have historically been rolled out against those who have been perceived to have 'betrayed the craft'.The big kahuna is the utterly surreal ciphers that they employ to communicate their psychopathy. Openly discuss them and you will soon feel the reach of their cult.

This cult is stitched into the fabric of society at an almost genetic level. Civil servants will move against you, private corporations will do so as well and if that doesn't get the message across, they will rely on the almost total subversion of the police to reach into your life and seriously mess it up. The most awful aspect to this malevolence is the fact that many of the people doing it, have no idea what they're doing. They haven't progressed far enough in their cult membership to have cognitive control of their actions. They are effectively dancing on the end of puppet strings while their owners use the RF system and potentially the old system to steer them through their psychopathy.

When one looks at the busts of Egyptian Pharaohs with the Horus hawk figure over their heads, this is a representation of the fact that these Pharaohs were also being mind controlled through their activities. What is most appalling is that these busts are not Dynastic Egyptian. The hieroglyphs on these statues have clearly been applied after the fact, some millennia later. Hence why no Rammeses II statues that have been discovered in recent years, have anything whatsoever by way of identifying hieroglyphs. Think about that for moment: this has been going on for literally thousands and thousands of years. It has survived every empire that ever sought to control it and continues to supersede the efforts of mankind in every aspect of our lives.
