Sun, sea, sand, sex, side servings of octopus and queer psychopaths in cassocks. Not the average bullet points listed on a late season package deal, but entirely accurate portrayal of the destination and greater experience.

Corruption Secret Societies Religion Psychology Military Industrial Complex Surveillance History

During a 90's package holiday to Greece, organised by a girlfriend of the time who could only be accurately described as a clandestine consort, the author entertained the idea of visiting the holy retreat of Sithonia. Said consort had been provided by the local regional police and security services for the purposes of handling the authors local sex requirements. Despite not really trusting the lady, the author acquiesced to the trip in the interests of keeping the silly cow happy... and maintaining acceptable levels of both frequency and vigour. of handling. It wasn't the best the author's ever had, in fact it was rather sub par for the most part. but what the lady lacked in technical prowess, enthusiasm and natural sex appeal she made up for in accessibility. In fairness to the silly mare, she was actually quite pretty, so she was kept on on a rolling contract by both the author and her Strathclyde Police handlers / blackmailers.

The usual package holiday ensued, rich dining, over drinking, issues acquiring essential commodities and of course, frenzied, air conditioned handling every four to six hours. During an orientation by the tour guide the author was perusing the available excursion literature. The author expressed an interest in visiting the historic retreat located across the bay. The tour guide shook her head and blurted out:

> You can only go there if you can prove that you have been celibate for two years.

The author looked at the off the shelf, Wilsons workwear Red blazer worn by the somewhat pudgy and woefully unattractive tour guide and snorted with derision. It seemed unrealistic that any bunch of incel bible thumpers would be telling the author when he could or could not have sex with his police provided consort(s). She went on to repeat the exact same sentence, verbatim and when questioned as to how such a thing could be enforced, she droned on at length describing how they simply knew but she couldn't explain how.

Subsequently it occurred to the author that this was actually clandestine activity, but he still wasn't aware of what type. Fast forward to the 2020's and the author certainly can explain how. The fucking fat cunt in a fucking shit jacket) was a god damned luciferian doctrine worshipping fucking freemason. Her stupid jibber jabber was one of their dumb cunt rituals which was designed to force the author (or whoever the target was) into some dumb clandestine cult whereby they would be gangstalked into celibacy. A relentless campaign by a hoarde of insane scumbags with avaricious intent, a license from the police, profound sexual dysfunction due to egregious amounts of RF based mind control (while they sleep) and effectively, zero fucking balls.

Unfortunately for the frumpy Redcoat the author was already an unwitting operative under the auspices of numerous bent pig cliques. Many of which were undoubtedly quite senior ranking and all of whom would have been more senior freemasons. Consequently there was no impending celibacy for the author, unlike the vision of mediocrity in a tumble dried nylon blazer.

This accusation of her enduring celibacy isn't simply based on the fact that she was in truth a bit of a fug ugly munter. It is no secret that even the most homely girl can get shagged rotten in a Mediterranean resort. No, her celibacy was undoubtedly enforced, making her an involuntary celibate or 'incel'. The most obvious method used to force her into this disgusting cult mentality would have been the very stunt she tried to pull with the author.

The particular mechanism details are a certainty because that's how their cult works and always has done. The subject is targeted with their insidious malevolence using less lethal weaponry, numerous intelligence protocols, massive government resources and 24/7 targeted surveillance. Then once they have reached the point of suicide they are put the yoke to do the exact same thing to someone else. Otherwise no progression in reacquiring essential aspects of wellbeing. Namely a job, a circle of social contacts / friends and an intimate relationship. These are considered to be the cornerstones of any sane individual and essential to the maintenance of mental health.

The removal of the three cornerstones of wellbeing is effectively granular terrorism. The fact that it is considered an industry by the British government is a source of phenomenal shame to the author. The number of utterly tragic cases which have littered the media are too many to list. Repeated instances of people reaching the limits of their coping mechanism and killing themselves. Or in the worst of cases, taking family members with them.

By way of an example, a woman and her seriously disabled daughter were found burned to death in their car on the south coast of England. The grizzly scene was shown to the masses on the 6pm news and fairly shocked the entire country. A history of high dependency emerged, whereby the mother had decided that in lieu of her recent terminal diagnosis, she would spare her daughter a life in care. An unfathomable decision was made and she drove to the local scenic spot, locked both doors, emptied a can of petrol all over the seats and herself said goodbye to her daughter and sparked the lighter.

It is difficult for anyone to understand the thinking of someone in such a desperate situation. However, in recent years the hoarde of psychotic scum have been unleashed all over the English speaking world. They have created an entire demographic known as 'Targeted individuals'. The simple truth is that the TI's are simply a symptom of something which is much more prevalent and has been around for thousands of years. What makes them different is their refusal to bend the knee. They know they're not bad people so when the hoarde arrive with their signals intelligence protocols which psychologically terrorise them, they push back and refuse to submit.

The mother and daughter were simply unable to fight back with any substantive means. This is no surprise to teh author. as a security operative in extremely active roles, he has been subjected to extreme hardening to malevolence. Having sustained over seven years of the cult's advances and relentless mediocrity, he has come to the conclusion that the average operative is a fucking idiot and can be outwitted quite easily. They're also a fucking bunch of utter shitebags and couldn't fight their way out of a bus queue. However, not everyone has such qualifications nor such chronic Braveheart psychosis. It is no wonder that they submit to the advances of this frankly insane cult of mind controlled blackmail victims, all in the business of facilitating a bunch of profoundly corrupt civil servants.

Hence the absolute shame felt by the author for being a British passport holder. The fucking sassenach cunts have allowed yet another bunch of psycho foreign cunts to bring their insane cult mentality here from the deserts of fucking Egypt, via the fucking Levant. They've been getting fucked over by foreign aggressors for thousands of years and the effete arseholes haven't worked it out yet. The other three nations in the UK worked it out well enough. Except the Northern Irish Royalists who are basically the flunkies of the British govt and always have been. Regardless the moral of the story is when some idiot fucking nomark rocks up with a load of hot air about new gods or a holy man in the East or convert now, while stocks last, or whatever - tell them to fuck off.

The Scots are masters of telling people to fuck off. They've been doing it for even longer than the English have been taking it up the Ronson Lighter from foreign invaders. In fact, most of the actual instances of telling people to fuck off have been aimed at the English. It is in fact a bit of national pastime north of the Pennines. Consequently when the author was refused access to the excursion booking for the apparently 'holy' peninsula of Sithonia, he had no problem discounting the opinion of the messenger and enquiring as to alternative travel arrangements.

As it turned out, a private charter would have fairly cleaned out the holiday fund, so a five hour bus ride to a shitty market had to do by way of a substitute. Nonetheless, the author was somewhat dischuffed and decided to do a bit of research on what these queer incel monks had been up to.

Holy mount Athos is probably the most religiously significant location in Europe. It is literally in direct alignment with Mount Olympus where the Greek Gods of old apparently lived. Some of the legends about a piece of land which has been off limits for centuries, are numerous and wildly grandiose in the nature of their claims. Not least of all that residents lived unto their three or four hundredth year as a result of 'taking the skin of the viper'.

What exactly these abstemious ascetics get up to, can not actually be verified without extensive surveillance, which is blocked by every military in the world.

To put not too fine a point on it, a substantial section of the clandestine community in the first world derive their philosophies and authority from this holy peninsula. The styling of their cult has made it into numerous other brands and has become synonymous with entire colour schemes and wardrobes. They derive their livery, intelligence methods and blatant wrong think philosophy from recurring incidences of massive revisionism. It's been going on for thousands of years and we're currently heading straight into another one. However from the outset these holy orders were usurpers. The Pagan temples of old were probably the first handlers of technology which was considered to be outwith the understanding of the profane.

Not all of this technology was super scifi stuff like nuclear powered wave generating satellites.. for example. Bell ringing is actually a lot more than merely a call to Sunday worship down at the local Church. It was developed to replace the reliance on megalithic infrastructure for the purposes of cymatic fertilisation. The frequencies produced by various rings of bells are obviously different in number of bells and the pitch. The notation or 'method' for any particular bell ringing escapade is written as something that resembles the output from a polygraph or a seismograph. It's frankly impossible to understand and only seasoned bell ringers or possibly campanologists have any fucking clue at all what any of it actually means. Nonetheless English change ringing has been around for approx four hundred years and is quite obviously a hidden science lurking in the esoteric lofts of your local bell tower.

There are also a good number of bells hung in the towers of the numerous monasteries dotted along the Sithonia coast. The precise frequencies of these bells is not known as the entire peninsula is mired in absolute secrecy. However it's safe to say that no nation state allows a bunch of ascetics to cordon off thousands of square kilometres for some irrelevant and trivial reason that must be kept absolutely secret at all costs. It is much more likely that the Byzantine Church has been in possession of esoteric sciences and arts for some time now. There is also the bizarre story about extended longevity. Something which crops up time and time again in scripture and also in the epics.

Without getting into the most contentious secrets of all the secret societies at once, basically they're all dependent on hierarchy. Technology is king and they disseminate access based on commercial value. Some of this technology is extremely mature. It may well have been around for millions of years. During that time, it has changed hands numerous times and has been the reason behind some of the most heinous atrocities that have ever been experienced by our species. Including but not limited to, numerous contrived societal resets, some of which included massive cataclysms.

Our global culture has now managed to ascertain that numerous 'civilisor gods' interacted with survivors of these resets. They granted them the boon of their advanced technology and societal philosophies. After decades of pondering who they were, many contemporary researchers have come to the conclusion that they were various orders of military. Since then they have remained obscured from the general population for the purposes of hiding the technology that preceding paradigms developed. The order of Knights that were active in Egypt and the Holy land circa 1100 AD appear to have come in contact with some of this technology.

Most famous of these orders are the Crusader Knights who then went on to form the Knights of Solomons Temple, The Knights Hospitaler, Malta, Milton Keynes and so on and so on. Without getting too heavily into teh dynamic between the Knights Templar and the Papacy, basically the Knights blatantly stole their access to a world of deity tourism that had previously been the sole remit of the Vatican.

The re-branded SPQR rolled out the Ptolemy / Caesarian psyop known as Christianity and used a bunch of highly conspicuous technology to effectively take over from Satan's dominion which was based on the exact same thing. Apparently the science of the technology (yes it's science not magic or spirit woo) drives the users completely insane and invariably turns them into paedophiles and homosexuals. Hence why there are no women or children allowed on the Holy peninsula, just men with a penchant for other men. Engaging in heterosexual intercourse has ever been a problem for ecclesiastical types and is hardly a revelation. However the propensity for homosexuality is well known in Greece and Turkey, the two countries directly within the RF influence range of Sithonia.

The author accepts that his information is really quite challenging. However if the reader cares to investigate, they will invariably come to the same conclusions. The Quran quite categorically states that Satan placed his empire upon the ocean. Many articles on TEFLONRABBIT.COM have gone to some length to describe the periodic wiping out of communities and societies living below sea level. The mountains and valleys of elevated terrain have long been associated with escaping the rat race to achieve some form of equilibrium. This is due to most urban centres being around ports and obviously very much susceptible to the ELF based ARK technology which perpetuates psychological surveillance and control.

The ClA announced years ago that according to their findings, consciousness isn't local. Instead it is received much like a radio or wireless signal. Where it is received from appears to have been hacked in years past by people like the Bastard Templar usurpers and their various flunkies that have been created since, such as Scottish Rite and York Rite Freemason .. usurpers.

Pause for a moment and appreciate the gravity of this statement. Your own thoughts (whether you experience them as an internal monologue or not) are not always generated inside your own head. Quite often you are experiencing what has been referred to in alternative and new age circles as 'channelling'. Literally downloading information in real time across a zero latency network and regurgitating it verbatim.

This is considered to be probably the biggest secrets of these clandestine outfits and they really don't like the author publishing this sort of information. However he's fucking sick of these pedantic pederasts and their sickening malevolent nature. They are by far some of the most egregiously stupid people that have ever disgraced the human condition. They are also obsessed with homosexuality and blind fealty in the face of contradictory logic. Just like the most fanatical of Zionist zealots, they provide ideology as a service to their many customers across the modern world. They have also infected the vast majority of municipal courts, police and military units all across the planet. Wherever there is a masonic lodge, there will be men of dubious sexuality furthering the secrecy and money laundering goals of a bunch of queer criminal scum.

It gets even worse, part of the infiltration of the police is represented through the auspices of 'anti corruption' who dress for the most part in the same colours that Jeffrey Epsteins temple was painted in and colours which are effectively associated with cottaging, male rape, BDSM and generally extreme and perverse sexual activity.

This is why the Vatican excommunicated the Templars, because of their disgusting fixation with enforced homosexuality. They literally can't leave it alone. Their entire culture has become completely dependant on RF based mind control and every single one of their victims is forced into some form of sexual dysfunction so that these fake, usurper knights of old can revel in their pederast psychopathy.

Make no bones about it, these disgusting criminals have been holding the rest of society under a cosh of Kompromat and blackmail for the past thousand years. The time has long since passed when it would have been a good idea to get rid of all of them for the sake of the rest of humanity. Now their psychopathy has infected every single facet of the human condition. It is impossible to purchase or sell anything without their insidious secret banking legacy reaching into your life courtesy of the guilds of the Corporation of London. Their reach is global and their agenda is insidiously evil. They are ultimately doing Satans work and have been predating on the rest of society in the same way that arch Zionists do with non Jews. They consider people who do not believe as they do, to be lesser forms of life. Lower than animals in some cases.

Furthermore the terribly English 'Crown Temple' which is effectively the administration of the entire Commonwealth revenue generating machine, is riddled with public school pederast bullshit. Again, anything to do with "terribly British and hush hush don't you know" is revealed to simply represent a cult of deranged faggotry. Quite separate from homosexuality, which is as old as time itself but in a negligibly minimal way, faggotry, poovery, mincing, camping it up, effete girly behaviour and generally being a fag, is nothing whatsoever to do with organic homosexuality. It's a cult of power levied over others using sexual dysfunction as it's primary vector.

Freud, Jung and Kline's work is represented in the relentless gang-stalking of the clandestine community. From the local council's investigative teams to the Scientologists, they all use a similar method and it's profoundly psychopathic. The essential difference between a sociopath and a psychopath is an abstract system of reference. The sociopath will commit to wrong action regardless of any perception of wrongdoing. The psychopath will do the same, but will justify it with something which seems utterly disproportionate. For example, when Brenda Spencer shot nearly a dozen people from her living room window, killing two and seriously injuring the rest, she justified it all by saying that Mondays were boring days and this should liven things up a bit. The average person simply can not reconcile such barbarism sans compelling reason. The goal of the recidivist epistemology cult is to turn everyone into a psychopath.

Despite the fact that ruthless maniacs aren't particularly profitable resources, those who are already congenital psychopaths have problems predicting what normal people will do next. They are aware that there is an expectation of some form of identification with their interlocutor, but are completely at a loss as to what it might be. These people are incredibly dangerous. They have no compulsion whatsoever with taking lives and causing egregious suffering. There have been moves over the millennia to eradicate them from the human condition. From the Spanish Inquisition to the death warrants signed by a vodka sozzled Joseph Stalin.

Unfortunately, the psychopaths won. He who promises to rob Peter to pay Paul can always rely on Pauls support. This is the horribly inelegant and simple truth of our current paradigm. It has however become unbelievably elaborate and frankly ... gay. So much so that the average acolyte of masonry now doesn't ever go anywhere near a building called a lodge. Instead they are randomly placed in groups of other people which is then considered by the invasive surveillance state to be an intelligence unit of masons. This is marked up through the military connections that the federal or municipal agencies have as a unit formed in a moving or 'field' lodge. The fact that one or more of the persons in this group may have zero knowledge of what is going on, is not considered a barrier to garnering profit through the medium of massive state sponsored corruption. The practice has lead to numerous tragic outcomes including murder, rape, torture, arson, theft and even suicide by cop. Nonetheless, the govts of the English speaking world and beyond, feign ignorance, claim to be powerless to prevent it, yet facilitate it at every conceivable turn.

Theresay May, former UK PM and alumni of the Worshipful Company of Management consultants (spit), was instrumental in creating the contemporary recruitment industry. To say that the industry is bent would be possibly the greatest understatement in the history of downplaying. The most rational way to describe recruiters is as spies. Plain and simple. But they're a specific kind of masonic spy. Beyond the leads and knowledge disparity that they trade in, they are not to ever, under any circumstances find out anything remotely inconvenient for the military, police, governments or even the Byzantine Church. It's simply not the done thing and will undoubtedly get them uninvited to breakfast. It's the same in teh rest of teh clandestine world. Nobody is cleared to freely research all manner of Fortean events and historical anomalies because it threatens existing profit vectors.
